

President’s Goals and Objectives for FY2010-11

VISION: The University of Mary Washington will become the best public liberal arts institution in the nation.

INTRODUCTION: In order to move towards achievement of the vision, the University’s Strategic Plan must be brought to life. Thus, the goals and objectives identified below are comprehensive in nature because to become the best is to attempt to achieve excellence in all areas of the institution. The Strategic Plan provides the framework for doing so and assists in determining where the focus of our efforts needs to be.

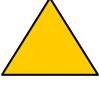

It is important to note that moving an institution forward is a team effort involving the Board of Visitors and the President. We are the leadership for the institution and what we say, the actions we take, and the support shown are the ultimate determination of whether or not the institution can actually achieve its aspirations. Of course, the vice presidents play an integral role by leading their respective units, but responsibility for their management and success rests with the President.

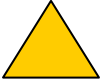

The format of this plan follows the Strategic Plan in that its eight goals are listed, followed by tasks that will be undertaken to address progress towards achieving the goals. Displayed first are the three motivations driving the actions of the President over the course of the following year.

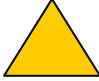

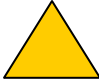

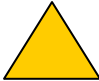

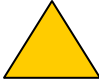

MOTIVATIONS:

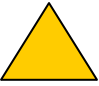

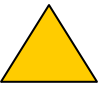

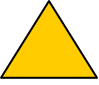

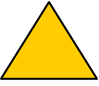

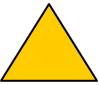

1. Achieve a vision of excellence in all areas of the institution.
2. Increase the knowledge of the existence of the University of Mary Washington beyond a 30 mile radius of the University’s campuses. The rationale for this goal is to improve employment opportunities for our graduates and internship possibilities for our students in addition to increasing enrollment applications.
3. Thoroughly embrace and support the teacher/scholar model.
